The Rocker

The Damn Good Treatment

Damn Good Furniture is renowned for creating original and beautiful interpretations of classic functionality. Their cotswold workshops play host to furniture designers Stuart Ferris and James Scott-Harden, who are renowned for their continuous quest for creating design masterpieces. Every piece is hand made to uncompromising standards of craftsmanship, using the very best materials.

RELAX

The Rocker's leather sling is both comfortable and functional. This natural material will improve with wear, the leather moulding to fit the rocker's body.

A LIFETIME

Designed to last many lifetimes, the frame of the Rocker is made from English Oak. It will retain its support and sturdiness throughout the years.

A TALKING PIECE

The new Damn Good inlaid pewter discs will become a marque of a masterpiece: collected, admired and treasured.

THE DAMN GOOD ROCKER

This reclining Rocker is the first of an exciting new range of Signature Pieces to be launched by DGF. In designing this piece, Stuart Ferris has breathed new life into an old classic.

The Rocker strikes an imposing silhouette; at 2.2 metres long, 0.7 metres wide and 1 metre high, its presence will be felt even in the largest of rooms and grandest of homes.
